3 Maryland case, and that citation from Woodrow Wilson was in 4 our brief and consistently maintained bicameralism can 5 flourish when both Houses are maintained on a substantially
6 equal population basis.

7 The majority of the court bought that argument, an 8 and in extended remarks, I will not quote now, except maybe 9 the first sentence, he said "We do not believe that the 10 concept of bicameralism is rendered anachronistic and 11 meaningless when the predominant basis of representation 12 in the two state legislative bodies is required to be the 13 same -- population."

14 He goes on in effect to requote the remarks from 15 Wilson and explain why bicameralism can very well work on 16 a substantially equal population basis.

17 THE CHAIRMAN: You have one minute.

18 DELEGATE SCANLAN: Thank you. I did want to 19 reply to the specific argument unicameralists made and,
20 quoting Mr. Jacobs, it is not true it has no basis in 21 historical fact. I did think it important to point it out.
